

Currently, Val Hoyle serves as Oregon's Labor Commissioner, a position voters statewide elected her to in 2018. Previously, Val represented the residents of West Eugene and Junction City in the Oregon legislature. During her tenure, she was elected to the position of Majority Leader and led successful efforts to:

- Increase the state's minimum wage
- Provide paid sick leave for workers
- Expand Oregon's Clean Fuels program to reduce carbon emissions
- Require universal background checks for firearm purchases
- Expand ballot access through Oregon's groundbreaking "Motor Voter" law
- Pass a first-in-the-nation requirement for health insurers to cover 12-month supplies of birth control
- Pass historic increases in public education funding

She has made Lane County her home for more than twenty years, and she and her husband Stephen raised their two children here. They live in Springfield with their dog Ronan.
